

The map illustrates the Comarca de Campos and Cabuérniga, a region in the northwestern part of Castile and León. It is bordered by Asturias to the west, Cantabria to the north, and the provinces of Burgos and León to the east. The region is characterized by a network of roads, including the A-8, A-67, N-621, N-623, and N-629. Major towns and cities shown include Santander, Camargo, Piélagos, Torrelavega, and Reinosa. The Ebro Reservoir (Embalse del Ebro) is a prominent feature in the southern part of the region. The map also shows the surrounding autonomous communities and provinces, providing a clear geographical context for the Comarca de Campos and Cabuérniga.
