

A detailed map of North Dakota, showing its 53 counties. Each county is labeled with its name in all caps. Major cities are marked with black dots and labeled. The state capital, Bismarck, is marked with a red star. The map also shows the state's borders with Minnesota to the east, South Dakota to the south, and Montana to the west. The Great Lakes are visible to the northwest, and the Red River is shown flowing through the eastern part of the state. The map uses a color-coded system to distinguish between counties: blue for water bodies, green for land, and various shades of yellow, orange, and red for the counties themselves. The map is oriented with North at the top.