

This map illustrates the administrative divisions of Turkey, with each province represented by a unique color. The capital, Ankara, is highlighted with a red star. Major cities are indicated by black dots. The map also shows the country's borders with Greece, Armenia, and Iran, as well as its proximity to the Black Sea, Aegean Sea, and Mediterranean Sea. The distribution of cities is uneven, with a higher concentration in the western and central parts of the country.